Abstract

A stability problem of a rectangular inhomogeneous orthotropic plate lying on an inhomogeneous base is solved. By solving the stated problem we carried out calculations for supported plate under one-sided compression for a cylindrical form stability loss.