

Abstract

In the paper a variant of Chaplygin method is used for approximate solution of Goursat problem. Bilateral (upper and lower) approximations are constructed, their convergence monotonically increasing and monotonically decreasing, respectively to exact solution, is proved. Besides, convergence speed of the method is estimated.